DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recitation of "pentasil type" renders the claim indefinite because it is not clear what is encompasses "type".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 00/31215 (hereinafter "WO") and EP 0 210 599 (hereinafter "EP").

WO discloses a process for catalytically cracking heavy hydrocarbon feeds to produce ethylene and propylene with a catalyst comprising ZSM-5 and/or ZSM-11 (page 1, lines 1-5; page 3, lines 20-24; and page 4, lines 25-27) The catalytic reaction is carried out under the presence of steam (page 3, lines 24-26). The catalyst has a Si/Al molar ratio above 5 (page 7, lines 1-6). The catalyst includes a phosphorous component in the range of 1-8 wt% (page 7, lines 19-24) and can also be composited with silica, silica-magnesia-zirconia (page 10, lines 3-5).

WO fails to disclose a catalyst including a rare earth element.

EP discloses a process for converting a feed comprising C₃ and C₄ hydrocarbons to ethylene and propylene in the presence of steam and catalyst composition comprising manganese and a metal from the group of Lanthanum series. See page 3, lines 20-33 and page 5, lines 5-16.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have combined the teachings of WO and EP and utilized a combination of catalyst disclosed therein because each reference is directed to similar process, i.e., similar feed, product, and process conditions. It is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose, in order to form a composition to be used for the very same purpose. The idea of combining them flow logically from their have been taught individually in the prior art. In re Kerkhoven, 626 F.2d 846, 850, 205 USPQ 1069 (CCPA 19680).
